Figure 3. Cell counts identified for each cell type by sample. A total of 66 cell types were identified across all 24 libraries. Relative cell count was calculated as the quotient of the counts per cell type in a sample and the total cell count of a sample. The barplots depict the total cell count in each sample (top) and each cell type (right).